Are you a tidy person or a messy person? Can you describe your desk or bedroom?

Example:

I think I am a tidy person.

My desk and bedroom are usually clean. My books are on the bookshelf. I don't leave my clothes on the bed. Sometimes my desk gets a little messy, but I clean it quickly.

Reading for main idea

1. Read Paragraph 1. Find some key information about the main characters.

- I was never very _____.
- My objects always _____.
- I always spent ages _____ amid my messy piles.
- I got _____.
- I would _____ on her tidy desk when there was no space left on mine.

the author

Gradually, _____ built up day by day, and we both _____ each other's living habits.

Kate

- Kate was extremely _____.
- Each of her objects _____.
- She even _____, notebook and bottle to keep track of her belongings.
- Over time, she got _____.
- She would push my dirty clothing _____ _____.

Para 1.

spend ... doing sth.

I was never very neat, while my roommate Kate was extremely organized. Each of her objects had its place, but mine always hid somewhere. She even labeled every box, notebook and bottle to keep track of her belongings. I always spent ages looking for everything amid my messy piles. Over time, Kate got neater and I got messier. She would push my dirty clothing over to my side of the desk, and I would carelessly lay my books on her tidy desk when there was no space left on mine. Gradually, little frustrations built up day by day, and we both got tired of each other's living habits.

2. Make a prediction about what happened later.

- Tips for prediction:

1. Will their different living habits bring good things or trouble?
2. What may happen between roommates with such different habits?
3. Guess: Will they fight? Or will they get on well finally?

2. Make a prediction about what happened later.

Example:

Kate is organized but the author is untidy.

I predict their different habits will bring trouble. They may have a quarrel. But perhaps they will solve the problem and become good roommates later.

阅读理解

Mrs. Archer always tells us, “Keep your eyes on your own paper.” It is a simple rule, but not everyone follows it.

One morning I am taking an English exam. I feel relaxed because it is not difficult for me. Suddenly, I notice someone looking at my paper. It is James. He whispers, “I hope you studied for this test!” I smile and go back to my exam. Then James says, “I can’t see!”

I don’t know what to do. Cheating is wrong, but James is my friend. One voice in my head says, “He’s your friend. Friends help each other.” But the other voice says, “You know cheating is bad.”

I feel worried but I know I must do the right thing. I put my arms around my answers to guard them, so James can’t see.

After the exam, I say to James, “Sorry, James, but you know I don’t like cheating. Maybe I can help you study next time.” James smiles and says, “OK, Brian. It may be hard, but I’ll try.” I feel happy because our friendship is still strong.
